1. Gellerman earns first victory at KC Golf Classic

Michael Gellerman broke through for his first win on the Web.com Tour with a final-round 3-under 69 on Sunday at the KC Golf Classic. His 11-under total finished one stroke clear of 54-hole leader Nelson Ledesma and local favorite Harry Higgs at Blue Hills Country Club. Gellerman posted a bogey-free 69 during a long final round. Play was suspended due to rain and lightning in the area three separate times for a total of three hours and nine minutes. After teeing off at 9:01 a.m., he didn't finish his round until after 5 p.m. Originally from Sterling, Kansas, a three-and-a-half-hour drive away, Gellerman had plenty of fan support throughout the tournament. The gallery included his parents, fiancée and friends, while his dog remained at the house down the road.

2. Web.com Tour shines at AT&T Byron Nelson

Sung Kang earned his first PGA TOUR title yesterday at the AT&T Byron Nelson. Kang's final-round 67 was enough to hold off former Web.com Tour members Matt Every and Scott Piercy by two strokes. Kang last played on the Web.com Tour during the 2015 season, where he finished 22nd in The 25. Current Web.com Tour members Scottie Scheffler and Doug Ghim made the cut in Dallas. Scheffler went on to finish the week at T34, while Ghim earned the best PGA TOUR finish of his career with a T12 result. Earlier this season, Scheffler finished in solo-second in Savannah, one-stroke behind winner Dan McCarthy.

3. Max Homa earns first PGA TOUR title in Charlotte

Two weeks ago, Max Homa secured his first PGA TOUR victory at the Wells Fargo Championship. The Web.com Tour alum held off Rory McIlroy, Sergio Garcia, Justin Rose, Rickie Fowler and others on a crowded final-round leaderboard. Homa earned his PGA TOUR card through the 2018 Web.com Tour Finals but not before a career-altering end to last year's Regular Season. At the 2018 WinCo Foods Portland Open presented by KraftHeinz, Homa birdied his final four holes Friday to make the cut on the number. If he had not made the cut, he would have fallen $96 short of the Web.com Tour Finals and would have needed to go to Q-School. Homa played in the inaugural Savannah Golf Championship where he finished T52 for the week.

4. Players beginning to secure PGA TOUR cards

With the Web.com Tour switching to a point system in 2019, it is estimated that players with 830 or more Web.com Tour Points will likely go on to secure a PGA TOUR card for 2019-20 season. So far this year, Xinjun Zhang (1,230 points), Robby Shelton (1,058 points), Scottie Scheffler (1,015 points) and Lanto Griffin (899 points) have all surpassed the 830-point mark and are poised to play on the PGA TOUR next season. With 13 Regular Season events remaining, players will look to surpass the 830-point threshold by the conclusion of the WinCo Foods Portland Open presented by KraftHeinz in August.
